

Travel Concierge

A hands-on AI session where your team builds a complete travel guide together — in 90 minutes.

7 participants
3 crews (2 duos + 1 trio)
4 briefs · each crew picks one
1 shared destination

SESSION TIMELINE

KICKOFF

⚡ Dream trip speed round — 10 min

Everyone names one dream destination + one thing they hate about planning. Write answers on a whiteboard. Vote on a single destination — all crews will plan the same place.

0:10

SHOW & TELL

🔑 Power user demos — 15 min

Daily users take 3–4 min each. One live demo: a prompt trick, MCP workflow, artifact, or personal use. No slides. First-timers ask one question each.

0:25

MISSION BRIEF

📄 Crew reveal + brief selection — 5 min

Announce the 3 crews. Hand out page 2. Each crew picks one of the four briefs — first come, first served. Confirm the destination. Remind crews: newcomers steer content, power users drive the AI.

0:30

BUILD SPRINT

🔨 Crew build time — 40 min

Crews work independently using the starter prompt on their brief card. Drop outputs into a shared doc as you go. At 0:50 — 5-min stand-up: each crew shares one sentence on progress.

1:10

SHOWCASE

🚀 MVP reveal + vote — 15 min

Each crew presents their component (3–4 min). Then show all outputs together as one combined guide. Team votes on fun categories (see page 3). Bonus: feed all outputs to Claude for a polished final synthesis.

1:25

CLOSE

💬 One thing I'll try this week — 5 min

Go around the room. How could you use this for work? Everyone names one concrete AI thing to try personally. Ends with momentum.

Crew rule: each crew has at least one power user who drives the AI.
Newcomers steer content decisions. Outputs go into a shared doc as you build.

Crew Briefs

3 crews · 4 briefs to choose from · each crew claims one. Starter prompt included on every card — use it to kick off your build sprint.

FIRST COME, FIRST SERVED — EACH CREW PICKS ONE BRIEF · ONE BRIEF GOES UNCLAIMED · THAT'S FINE

BRIEF A

Destination & itinerary

5-day day-by-day plan with morning/afternoon/evening activities, one local gem per day, and meal spots. This is the backbone — other crews reference it.

→ formatted itinerary doc

STARTER PROMPT

You are an expert travel planner. Create a 5-day itinerary for [DESTINATION] for [N] travellers in [MONTH]. For each day: morning / afternoon / evening activities, one off-the-beaten-path rec, realistic travel times, best meal spots nearby. Write like someone who has actually lived there.

Challenge: Ask AI to rewrite Day 3 for someone who hates museums and loves street food.

BRIEF B

Packing list generator

Smart packing list tailored to destination, season, trip length, and traveller type. Categorised by clothing, toiletries, documents, electronics, nice-to-haves.

→ categorised packing list

STARTER PROMPT

Create a complete packing list for a [N]-day trip to [DESTINATION] in [MONTH]. Traveller: [solo / couple / family]. Style: [backpacker / mid-range / luxury]. Activities: [list]. Organise by category. Mark anything easy to buy there as optional. Add a "don't forget" section of 5 commonly missed items.

Challenge: Cut the list down to carry-on only. What's the first thing you'd sacrifice?

BRIEF C

Budget tracker

Day-by-day cost breakdown: accommodation, food, transport, activities, buffer. Real price estimates. Flag 2–3 splurge moments with cheaper alternatives.

→ budget table or card

STARTER PROMPT

Build a day-by-day travel budget for [N] days in [DESTINATION] for [N] people. Use real price estimates. Per day: accommodation, breakfast/lunch/dinner, local transport, activities, 10% buffer. Grand total at the bottom. Flag the 2–3 biggest splurge moments and suggest a cheaper alternative for each.

Challenge: Rebuild the budget 30% cheaper without cutting the best experiences.

BRIEF D

Local insider guide

Underrated neighbourhoods, cultural do's & don'ts, useful phrases, hidden food gems, what to do if it rains. Written like a letter from a friend who lived there.

→ one-page insider brief

STARTER PROMPT

Write a local insider guide for [DESTINATION] — what a friend who lived there 2 years would tell you. Include: 3 underrated neighbourhoods, 5 things locals find annoying about tourists, cultural do's & don'ts, 5 useful phrases with pronunciation, one must-eat dish no top-10 list mentions, what to do if it rains.

Challenge: Rewrite the "what not to do" section as a snarky travel blog post.

Facilitator Guide

Tips for running a smooth session, voting categories for the showcase, and the integration moment to close on.

FACILITATOR TIPS

- Pick the destination as a group from the warm-up answers — collective ownership makes the session land harder.
- For the brief selection: let crews claim briefs in order (shout out or raise hands). The unclaimed fourth brief is a fun bonus — offer it as an optional stretch to the trio if time allows.
- Remind crews: newcomers steer content decisions, power users drive the AI. This flip is intentional — it forces knowledge transfer.
- Set a shared doc link before the session. Crews drop outputs there as they go, so the final synthesis takes seconds.
- Do the 0:50 stand-up — it's a natural re-energiser and prevents any crew from going too far off-script mid-sprint.
- At the showcase, show all outputs combined on one screen. That moment of "we built this together" lands hard. End by asking Claude to synthesise them into one polished guide — takes 2 minutes.

VOTING CATEGORIES

-  Most creative prompt
-  Most surprising AI output
-  Best use of AI speed
-  Funniest AI moment
-  Best newcomer move

THE INTEGRATION MOMENT

After the showcase, drop all crew outputs into Claude and ask:

"Combine these into one polished travel guide for [destination]."

The result is the team's collective work — produced together in under 90 minutes. Show it on screen before closing.
